Supt. Kerr New President Of N.E.O. Teachers Group

Superintendent Kerr

E. S. Kerr, superintendent of the Salem public schools, was scheduled for elevation to the presidency of the Northeast Ohio Teachers association at the annual convention in Cleveland this afternoon.

Supt. Kerr is unopposed for the office.

A large number of Salem teachers are attending the Cleveland meeting, the day being a holiday for pupils.

The Salem educator's election was scheduled to be announced at the 4:45 p. m. business session.

Kerr has been Salem school superintendent since 1931 when he came here from Canton, where he was assistant superintendent for four years. A graduate of Ohio State university, Kerr received his Master's degree from that university.

Peace is not being negotiated with Germany and Japan but with England and Russia, Bishop Bromley Oxnam of New York City, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, declared today in addressing the teachers at their Cleveland meeting.

He asserted: "President Truman needs the full support of all moral forces in this critical hour. We must make it abundantly clear to him that the American people want peace, and are ready to back leadership that will give life to the United Nations, remove the causes that lead to war, and establish the law and order essential to international government."

The World Today . . .

Palestine Crisis

ONE OF THE MOST DANGEROUS of the many crises which are threatening international peace is that growing out of the dispute over whether unrestricted Jewish immigration should be permitted into Palestine.

This of course involves the historic question of the establishment of a Jewish national home in the Holy Land. A host of homeless Jews in Europe—refugees from the Hitlerian storm—are crying for a raising of barriers. Arabs in Palestine and in neighboring countries are offering bitter opposition—and threats of armed strife are in the air.

The situation demands quick adjustment, but it bristles with complications. The British government, which holds the mandate for Palestine, is trying to handle this hot potato, and the matter has been the subject of conversations between London and Washington. There has been a growing feeling in England that the United States should share in the responsibility of trying to reach a solution.

Well informed circles are expecting the British government to make a statement in the immediate future. Whether this will relate to the exchanges with Washington remains to be seen.

This column yesterday suggested that the Japanese revolt against Dutch rule, and the native rebellion in French Indo-China, might well be taken up by the new world security organization for settlement. The question of self-determination is a logical one to come before all the United Nations. There naturally would have to be mediation by some country, to halt the fighting and preserve the status quo, pending the time when the security organization gets into full swing.

Why shouldn't a similar program be applied to the Palestine difficulty? Certainly there could be no better jury before which to lay

TRUMAN PLANS WAGE POLICY TALK TUESDAY

Will Make Known His Wage-Price Stabilization Proposal

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—President Truman will announce his proposals for wage and price stabilization in a radio address Tuesday night as part of a fast-developing government attempt to end strikes.

The President will broadcast (10 p. m. EST) the outline of a policy he and his advisers hope will at least head off further walkouts for pay increases.

Mr. Truman made known his plan at a news conference yesterday. He also:

1. Spiked reports that his chief price adviser, Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, would resign.
2. Announced appointment of a seasoned labor trouble-shooter, Dr. John R. Steelman, as a presidential special assistant.
3. Said he had not encouraged Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, to propose a national 45-hour week, as Wilson did after a White House visit last Friday.
4. Made public the agenda for the labor-management peace conference beginning Nov. 5 and letters from leaders who planned it.
5. Renewed his demand for enactment of the so-called Full Employment bill now bottled up in a house committee.

The labor-management agenda set forth seven discussion topics dealing with means of minimizing labor disputes. These already had been disclosed unofficially.

Other officers are: R. J. Barrow, Columbiana; treasurer, Frank M. Gardner, East Liverpool; commissioner, W. S. Mellinger, Leetonia.

Executive board: F. A. Gibson, East Palestine; Atty. George L. LaFerty, Lisbon; Ralph Kennedy, Leetonia; A. V. Smith, Salem; Malcolm W. Thompson, East Liverpool; J. H. Wilson, Salem.

National council representatives: J. A. Reaney, East Liverpool; and R. C. Gibbs, Salem; member national council-at-large, M. W. Thompson, East Liverpool.

District chairmen are: North, K. U. Wirtz, Salem; central, Probate Judge Milton C. Cope, Lisbon; southern, W. H. Harris, Jr., East Liverpool.

The retiring president, J. A. Reaney, was chairman of the meeting. Guest speakers were Howard Knepper, Cincinnati, deputy regional Scout executive, and Charles H. Miller, national director of special field projects, representing the National Council of Boy Scouts of America.

County Executive Don Gay said that during the last fiscal year, a special McKinley camp development fund was established through the transfer of $1,000 from the operating fund. This fund was augmented by a northern district contribution of $1,500 and $1,745 from donations in the southern part of the county.

As a result of this additional financial aid, Paul Boucherle of Youngstown, drew plans for the remodeling of the reservation headquarters.

Scout membership in Columbiana county now totals 1,717. There are 31 troops in the county.

THIS SPOT marked by a bronze plaque always gets special attention from both visitors and work details aboard the USS Missouri now docked at Norfolk, Va. It marks the deck area where Japanese surrender terms were signed while the giant dreadnaught lay at anchor in Tokyo bay. At left, a group of visitors are kept back by a light line while Seaman First Class Robert E. Schwack, Buffalo, N. Y., industriously applies a polishing cloth. Pfc. Ray Griffith Awarded Silver Star Posthumously

The late Pfc. Ray A. Griffith of Salem has been posthumously awarded the Silver Star medal with a citation by the President of the United States.

At the Asan-Adelup beachhead on Guam, Pfc. Griffith, upon orders, climbed a cliff with two other men. When his companions were wounded he alone held the enemy, covering the advance of his company.

Presentation of the posthumous award was made Thursday to Griffith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Griffith, of 810 Spring st., by Marine First Lieut. Richard T. Bingham, recruiting officer in this area.

Covered For Other Men

His citation gives details of his heroism:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity while serving as rifleman with the Second battalion, Twenty-first Marines, Third division, during action against enemy Japanese forces on the Asan-Adelup beachhead on Guam, Marianas islands, July 21, 1944.

"Ordered with two comrades to scale a precipitous cliff and cover the advance of the company in its mission of seizing high ground commanding the northern beaches, Pfc. Griffith proceeded under hazardous enemy rifle fire and succeeded in reaching the summit.

Valiantly holding his ground alone after the other two men were wounded by fire from a hostile observation post, he returned fire in a counter-attack which killed several of the enemy and drove the remainder away from the cliff.

"Subsequently, Pfc. Griffith covered the advance of his company in the conquest of vital terrain, thereby contributing essentially to the successful seizure of the strategic beachhead. His aggressive fighting spirit, cool and selfless courage and determined devotion to duty upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval service."

Pfc. Griffith later lost his life in action against the Japanese.

KIWANIS APPROVES HEALTH PROGRAM

Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health league, gave an informative talk on the work being done through the league in the prevention of tuberculosis when members of the Kiwanis club met Thursday noon in the Memorial building.

She discussed the one-mill tax levy which will be submitted to the voters Nov. 6, from which funds will be secured to care for tuberculosis patients.

The club passed a resolution (favoring a fully organized health department for Columbiana county.

This resolution conforms with the one passed by the staffs of the Salem hospitals. Dr. C. J. Lehwald was program chairman.

Ensign Smith Finds War-Weary People In Japan Friendly

An interesting tale of a tour through war-torn Yokohama and Tokyo is included in a letter from Ensign Lionel Smith of Salem to his wife Mrs. Joyce Chatfield Smith.

Describing the people of Japan as "mostly very poorly dressed, very humble appearing, sad and dejected," Ensign Smith states in his letter that he cannot believe that the Japanese people could possibly have understood the meaning and purposes of their war.

He describes Yokohama's shattered buildings, especially in the downtown sections, and says the greatest damage he saw in Tokyo was in the residential sections, rather than downtown.

Victims of Militarists

"I came ashore with my gun loaded. I expected to see poorly hidden defiance, arrogance, contempt and I was on the alert for the famous Jap trickery. And instead I saw that these people are the victims of treacherous military leaders."

"Practically every male was in uniform, a few carrying swords (none carried guns of any type). The women were carrying their babies on their heads like Indians, and they were extremely courteous, bashful and obviously tried to stay in the background."

"The men were bolder, inquisitive and inclined toward conversation, which of course was unreluctant."

BODY FOUND HANGING IN PRISON CELL

Uses Smuggled Towel To Cheat Trial As War Criminal

(By Associated Press)

MUENBERG, Oct. 26.—Bulldogged, lugubrious Dr. Robert Ley, one-time luxury-loving chief of Hitler's labor front, hanged himself in his cell last night at the Muenberg jail, where he was awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Col. John Harlan Amen, interrogation chief, disclosed today Ley had left a document entitled "my political testimony," which Amen said was "a terrific apology for his anti-Semitism." The message was directed to "my German people."

Ley also left two other documents, prepared in his cell. One was a will, addressed to his children; the other a long discourse directed to his three wives. A spokesman said he called upon his last wife not to remarry, "because I know you love only me."

His suicide may mean major changes in preparations for the trial of the 22 other leading Nazis incarcerated there. With the opening of the trial just 24 days away, Ley's death was believed to exclude the use of certain documents with high value as evidence, pertaining only to the ex-labor boss.

Suicide Well Planned

The official announcement said the body was discovered by a sentinel who became suspicious when Ley remained seated motionless in his cell for more than two minutes.

"The sentinel called the prisoner by name and received no answer," the announcement said. "They (the guard and the corporal of the guard) entered the cell and discovered Ley was on the toilet seat. His mouth was sufficed with rags torn from his underwear. Around his neck was the hemmed edge of a towel, fastened to the top of the flush pipe of the toilet. The guard called the prisoner officer, who cut the prisoner down."

Ley had wet the towel to make sure the knot would not slip, and had drawn the noose tight when he seated himself. The guard, who looked into the cell every 30 seconds, could see only the prisoner's knees. Apparently Ley had planned his suicide long and carefully.

The 22 other top-ranking Nazi defendants were not informed of Ley's death. His body was removed to the prison morgue.

He was buried today in an unmarked grave.

A fanatical Nazi, Ley controlled 95 per cent of all the gainfully employed persons in the Reich. In his capacity the labor chief Ley obliterated labor unions ruthlessly. He created the "strength through joy" movement, and often lectured women on the advisability of bearing illegitimate children.

He also battled the Catholic church.

Off Center

In the jargon of politics, words like center, left and right have come to have fairly useful meanings, when properly applied. Thus, when the late Mr. Roosevelt defined his position as being left of center, it expressed clearly what he meant, which was that he intended to do business with the leftists while continuing to retain at least nominal membership in the organization of the center. In other words, Mr. Roosevelt was a moderate, veering left.

Lately it has been made evident that the position defined as the center in American politics is shifting; nothing in politics ever stays long in the same place. In some respects, yesterday's left-of-center views already are today's center views. It is plain, moreover, that a good many things which were lately only a little to the right of center are now so far to the right that they have ceased to belong in the political orbit.

There is still another element in our politics. Its position is best described as off-center. That is, its component parts have no interest in comparisons of views according to the ordinary radical-moderate-conservative scale. They owe no allegiance to anything that exists. Their only interest is in destruction of existing values.

Some of them are called communists, for want of a better term, though they demonstrably are not devoted to Russian communism, which operates as a closely disciplined police state. Perhaps it would be accurate to speak of them wherever they occur—in Europe or in the United States—as anarchists. Their aim is to live outside whatever discipline threatens to encompass them most closely. They refuse to work with leadership in any form. Their reaction is invariably away from organization of any kind, whether it be labor unions, political parties, or international ecologies. They may be a nastier postwar problem than any of the organized minorities whose ambitions are threatened to make trouble.

Aggressors Know Only One Force

President Truman has pointed out in his message to Congress on military training that national preparedness is not a denial of confidence in the United Nations organization. He might have gone further and explained that preparedness is not only imperative under the United Nations plan for putting down aggression with force, if necessary, but beyond that may be the means of preventing aggression.

Gen. Marshall, in his final report as chief of staff, remarked that in the past the United States could have been charged with inviting attacks by its failure to be ready to deal with them effectually the instant they were launched. It is apparent from the records, for instance, that German militarists in both World wars assumed they could execute their plans without interference by the United States, because this nation was unprepared and probably could not get ready to fight in time to be of any consequence. The fact the Germans guessed wrong both times might not keep them from guessing wrong a third time, if they get the chance. Their counterparts in Japan were tempted to go to war on the same wrong assumption—that the United States could not change its potential strength into actual strength in time to stop their seizures of territory.

No one can say, of course, that if the United States were to be better prepared in the future that would-be aggressors thereby would be restrained and war would not occur. But that is only part of the proposition of preparedness, as submitted by its advocates. The remainder is concerned with the probability that a better prepared nation would be able to win its battles with less waste of life, time and treasure. For example, it may be that Japan has lost a war that almost gained it an empire with less proportionate cost to the Japanese than the cost to the United States of thwarting Japanese ambition. Unpreparedness has cost this nation so dear that one more experience could ruin it.

Aggressors know only one force. If nations that want peace are not prepared to defend themselves, they can expect more wars.

Educating For Peace

Tucked away in Chapter IX, Article 55, of the United Nations Charter is the statement that "the United Nations shall promote . . . international cultural and educational cooperation." The declaration didn't cause a great deal of interest when the Charter was being written. But its importance will loom larger as steps are taken to put it into effect.

The first of these steps will be a conference of the world's ministers of education, to be held shortly in London. The conference intends to set up an educational and cultural body to combat what one of the American delegates has called "cultural isolation".

The ministers and their staffs will be undertaking a long and difficult program. Confronting them will be a world accumulation of nationalism, narrowness, opposition and disinterest. It may take a generation or their work to show any significant results.

But the ultimate achievement of world peace may depend as much on this program as on any concerted effort of nations. Means for settling international disputes, by force of arms if necessary, are outlined in the United Nations Charter. It is obvious, however, that it would be far better to get at the source of such disputes and destroy them before they grow into serious problems.

Much international bad feeling stems from misunderstanding. Cultural and educational cooperation among nations will not provide a panacea, but it promises to be of help in correcting old, deep-rooted misconceptions.

Hitler and his henchmen and the Jap war lords misled their people for war by exploiting such misconceptions. They played up contempt of other nations and races. They played up the myth of their own racial superiority. They sowed suspicion in the fertile soil of ignorance—though the Germans and Japs are, by accepted standards, literate nations.

We Americans, also considered a literate nation, are likewise the victims of considerable misunderstanding and ignorance.

Thousands of young men from the fighting countries saw foreign lands for the first time during the war. But many had only superficial views under abnormal circumstances. Trained in a narrow environment and judging what they saw by home-country standards, a lot of them returned more prejudiced than when they left.

The new London conference will have to develop a new, purposeful system of education aimed at understanding and peace. Delegates probably will have to agree on some broader base of instruction in the world's history and literature for each country. And their program obviously will have to exceed the bounds of formal education and consider such things as travel, motion pictures, broadcasts and a free press.

With such a program launched, it may happen in the fullness of time that the peoples of the earth will come to believe that foreigners are human, too. When that day comes, the hopes for lasting peace will be considerably brighter.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, October 27.

THERE are signs of static conditions, with loss of funds through impetuosity, reckless waste or indulgence, possibly drawing down the wrath or rebuke from elders, superiors or those in authority.

Preserve peace and amiability in domestic or social relations. It may be difficult to maintain any profit or pleasure under turbulent and wayward moves or emotions.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a static and difficult year, with little profit, pleasure or satisfaction. The health as well as an irritable state of mind may be at the bottom of this. Cultivate amiability in the domestic circle as well as in business, since employers or superiors may not be over-gracious or tolerant of ill-temper or rash acts. Use good judgment.

A child born on this day may need early training and discipline as well as proper attention to its health and emotions.

Blowup In Germany

Plans of Allied military government officials in Germany to blow up the three I. G. Farben munitions plants in the American occupation zone sound like good sense.

The most important part of the plan to prevent Germany from launching another war is the prevention of industrialization that can be used for war in any way. The best way to deal with plants that can be used for nothing but war materials is to destroy them.

Where factories can be adapted to peacetime production, they should be used for such purpose. Twenty-one plants in the American zone already have been designated for disposal in part payment of Germany's reparations and more will be added to the list.

Imported cheese should be plentiful soon, and regardless of price, we'll pay through the nose.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Disorder Affecting the Lymph Glands

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THERE are a number of serious disorders which affect the lymph glands throughout the body. These glands aid in combating infections. There is, however, a more or less harmless or benign condition known as infectious mononucleosis which also affects the lymph glands in the body. This disease is also called glandular fever.

It is a disorder which comes on suddenly, producing many symptoms such as fever, sore throat, enlargement of the lymph glands, the spleen and the liver, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood known as lymphocytes.

Cause Unknown

The exact cause of this condition is not known. However, there are some who suspect that it may be due to an infection with such germs as the streptococcus, staphylococcus or perhaps a virus that is an organism so small that it will pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.

The disease may occur at any time of life, but most of those affected are either children or young adults. Men seem to have the condition more often than women. The disease seems to be more prevalent in the springtime.

Several types of infectious mononucleosis have been described in one type, the lymph gland enlargement is the most noticeable symptom in the second type, sore throat and fever are outstanding. In the third type there is fever, headaches, a feeling of sickness and a skin rash. The disorder may be mild or severe. Sometimes it may persist for weeks or months.

In some instances, there may be stiff neck, diarrhea, pains in the joints, nosebleed, itching of the skin and earache. In two out of three patients, enlargement of the spleen can be detected.

Paul-Bunnell Test

There is a test known as the Paul-Bunnell reaction, which may be carried out to aid in making a diagnosis. The test is made by mixing the blood cells from sheep with the blood serum from patients suspected of having infectious mononucleosis. If the disease is present, the blood serum will cause the red cells to form into clumps.

Up to the present time no particular type of treatment for infectious mononucleosis has been discovered which will speed recovery. On the other hand, the disease is rarely, if ever a dangerous one, but knowledge of it is important because of the likelihood of confusing it with other more serious conditions.

Flashes Of Life

OUT THEIR BELTS
BERNE — Swiss food prospects for the coming winter, bleak a few weeks ago, have taken a turn for the better with the release of stored commodities into trade channels. Materially increased rations for November were based on the arrival in the harbor of Toulon, France, late in September of three Swiss ships laden with overseas commodities. Daily an empty freight train leaves Switzerland to bring back a trainload of wheat and sugar from Toulon.

WESTVILLE, Ill.—If Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ottino have their fingers crossed, the reason is Felix, their cat. For two years, they report, Felix has been drinking out of the goldfish bowl without once making a pass at his finny friends.

BEST PRISONERS?
LIFERS, SAYS EXPERT
CAMBRIDGE, Md.—E. Murray Benson, state parole commissioner, says "lifers" make the best prisoners.

"We have strata of society in the institutions," he says. "Reputation and character are rated about the same inside as outside, and the livers are well regarded. In fact, most of the heads of the various departments and shops are lifers."

DRAY, SAILOR—YOU ASKED FOR IT!
GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Robert Effer, a recruit at the Naval Training center here, penned this complaint to a civilian friend who had failed to write him: "Fine thing, I enter the service and you forget all about me." His pal made amends promptly by sending 102 postal cards in one mail.

DRUM CORPS MAKES OFFICER'S JOB EASIER
ABERDEEN PROVING GROUNDS, Md.—Lt. Salvatore A.iele and his cadre were tired of lining "He! He!" for marching cookies, so they organized a drum corps.

The lieutenant, who finds the new arrangement easier on the front, said he would have organized a fife and drum corps if he could have got fives.

NON-SHOOTIN' WAR
FT. GEORGE G. MEADE, Md.—Pfc. William A. Okinawa Becomes Island of Despair

OKINAWA, Oct. 26.—This typhoon-battered island where some of the bitterest fighting of the Pacific war raged has become the bottleneck for United States service men frantic to return home.

Already it has been labelled by some as "The Island of Despair."

As the war ended, Okinawa had become a huge staging base preparatory to invasion of Japan. The collapse of the Japanese left the island heavily populated with troops.

Then, on Oct. 9 and 10, a fierce typhoon swept in from the sea, flattening quonset huts, smashing shipping, ripping grounded airplanes. An already serious transportation problem trebled overnight.

Food transport still is the biggest problem facing harassed authorities. At this base where hundreds of ships may be seen offshore, troops complain they are not getting enough to eat.

The men aboard the ships are not faring too well, either. They are subsisting mainly on monotonous diet rations.

Floating Airfields a Reality

Long a favorite dream of imaginative inventors, floating airfields resting on the sea actually were built and used by Britain. Ocean landing strip, shown above, is made up of hundreds of hexagonal cans covered with canvas matting, assembled so that motion of waves increases tension. Inventor, R. M. Hamilton, claims strips will remain level in waves up to 36 feet from crest to crest. British call the assemblage "Lily," from resemblance to water-lily pads.

First Destroyers Returned by British

HMS Essington, left, and HMS Calder, first of 50 U. S. destroyers to be returned by Great Britain, moor in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Loaned to England in 1940, their empty depth charge racks testify to the peace which brought them back to this country after five years of war service under the Union Jack.

Urges More Standards As Key To Prosperity

CHICAGO—Standardization, the keynote of American mass production, has put radios, telephones and automobiles within the reach of the working man, according to George S. Case, director of the American Standards Assn.

Only in recent years, he said, has the industrialist, appreciated the need for standardization.

"The gas appliance industry . . . has accomplished more in the past 10 years with fixed standards than they had accomplished in the preceding 40 years," Case said.

The American Standards Assn. has developed 831 standards. "As that number increases, consumer prices decrease," he explained.

"When standards become international on a larger scale, we can hope for even better things."

Eagle On Presidential Flag Does About Face

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The American eagle on the presidential flag has done an about face. Now it looks to the right, as shown on a new presidential flag, seal and coat of arms. President Truman displayed all three for the first time at his news conference yesterday.

The eagle's turn-about has it contemplating the alive branches of peace, clutched in its right talon. The fierce bird, long a national emblem, until now has been shown gazing at its left talon, holding arrows symbolic of war.

Weinstock Is Injured In Fall Beneath Wagon

LISBON, Oct. 26.—G. V. Weinstock, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Co., narrowly escaped severe injury Wednesday evening when he fell beneath a hay wagon.

Weinstock attempted to cross on the tongue of the wagon onto the tractor which was pulling it and he fell, the wagon passing over him until the rear axle touched his head. He received body bruises and a two inch cut on top of his head.

The men were enroute from the Guy Frantz farm on the Teegarden road to the Alfred Smith farm on the Gavers West Point rd. where they had planned to pick up the Wednesday evening discussion group for a hayride.

Predicts Expanded Field For Weather Forecasters

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—The weatherman will really come into his own after the war.

Dr. H. H. Neuberger, chief of the meteorological division at Pennsylvania State college, expects thousands of service-trained meteorologists to stay in that field.

The Penn State expert predicts that various kinds of industries will employ their own weather specialists after the war to relieve overworked, under-staffed weather bureaus.

"Even in the field of medicine, meteorology is useful, for the weather affects the behavior of patients and the speed of their recovery from certain diseases," he explained.

Dr. Neuberger said that weather forecasts help the food, chemical, and pharmaceutical industries to plan shipment of their products so that spoilage will be minimized. Power companies need readily available information on the frequency and intensity of storms, as well as their path of travel, he added.

He says he realizes that if the situation were reversed and the Japs were walking among the ramble of a war-ravaged Salem, he feels quite sure he would not be as friendly as the Japs are being to American sight-seeing sailors and scientists.

The constant American search for souvenirs continues in Japan just as it has all over the world where GI's and Gobs are located, Ensign Smith says.

Many Ruined Buildings
Ruined buildings are numerous in the two cities, but in Tokyo more of the largest department stores (some 10 stories high) are still in operation.

Smith writes that he saw stores jammed with Americans seeking trinkets, clothing, and other miscellaneous items to send home to relatives and friends. He said the usual "gyp-specialists" operate in the streets and the bargaining between Japs and Americans—neither of which understood the other—was extremely interesting and funny to watch.

On one of three trips through Tokyo in late September, Ensign Smith was in several Japanese homes. He says the individual home are "home-workshops" with the occupants in normal times devoted to producing small items of many types for sale in the department stores.

The homes, all wooden, were entered through spaces covered by curtains or equipped with horizontally or vertically sliding doors. He saw no hinges on doors in any homes.

Community Baths
He said the homes were unbelievably small and none equipped with running water, electricity or kitchen stoves. Cooking, for the most part, was done on small portable charcoal stoves which were used in the various rooms.

Bathing and washing was done in a "community bath house," located centrally throughout the various neighborhoods.

Also interesting in Ensign Smith's letter is his description of the methods of changing American money into Japanese yen for dealing with the natives on the excursions.

He said an exchange had been set up by the Navy on one ship in the bay, but for the most part the sailors were ashore before they realized that yen would be needed.

Army exchanges were swamped, he said, and he solved his own problem by trading a package of cigarettes, which cost him five cents, for 20 yen (the equivalent of $1.20 in American money).

SUSPECT EX-CON IN GIRL'S DEATH

Police Widen Search For Slayer of Lorain Stenographer

(By Associated Press)
LORAIN, Oct. 26—Police searched a five-state area today for an ex-convict steel worker wanted for questioning in the slaying of Mrs.
Heien Duffield, 24-year-old wife of a navy radarman in the Pacific.

Although admitting lack of any knowledge of a motive for the shooting, detectives said considerable circumstantial evidence pointing to the steel worker, who once served a term in the Ohio peniten-entiary for auto theft, has been up-covered.

Police said the man's landlady reported he was away from home at the time of the killing and she identified a blood-stained light tan overcoat found near the victim's body as his. The man owned a 25-caliber automatic, the type of weapon used in the shooting, officers added.

The landlady told police the man returned to his room about 6:30
a. m. yesterday and left two hours later carrying two suitcases and a large paper-wrapped package. A pair of wet, muddy shoes were found in his room.

Mrs. Duffield's body, with four bullet holes in the head, neck and chest, was found Wednesday night in a water-filled ditch in nearby Sheffield. Close by, the motor still running, was the Lorain stenographer's automobile.

At least four persons saw her shot to death at California and E Erie aves., a thickly-populated and heavily traveled section of Lorain.
All said the killer accosted his victim as she stepped into her car after leaving a barbecue restaurant about 10 p. m.

They said the man climbed into the car with her, and then the shots rang out. The slayer then ran around the car, pushed the woman from behind the steering wheel, and drove away. Pursuers failed to keep up with the fleeing slayer.

WHILE New Yorkers prepared to dig the old flannels out of mothballs, style designers unveiled some of their latest swim suits for the coming year. the case than the full assembly of the new League of Nations. As a matter of fact, any matter affecting the Palestine mandate naturally would fall to the security organization as successor to the League of Nations which originally granted the mandate to Britain.

This idea doesn't involve any suggestion that Britain be asked to surrender the mandate. The point is that the problem of the Jewish national home has got too big and complicated for any one country to handle. Indeed, it is doubtful if the decision of any single country would be accepted by both sides to the controversy. Should it be decided that the question should come before the general assembly of the United Nations as soon as that body is established, then the urgent need now would be for mediation to preserve the status quo until the assembly could function. Who would mediate? Perhaps we shall have an answer to that when we get expected British statement.

Miami Plans To Get Next World Fair

(By Associated Press)
MIAMI Fla.—Miami, busily preparing for an expected "biggest season in history," also is sharpening its long-range sights for its greatest single event as a resort and travel center.
In 1950, if present plans are carried out, the aerial crossroads of the Western hemisphere will be the scene of a World Fair, the first since the war ended.
The fair started off in a small way, when real estate editor, Charles Leyden of the Miami Daily News needed something to fill a Sunday column. About two years ago, Leyden decided he might try with the idea of a World Fair for Miami, and used the typical boosting praises of the area.

He tapped the idea a few more times, getting jeers from his friends and readers, but suddenly the response changed. Business men began to tell him a fair might be a good thing. Maybe, they thought, it might go over.
Tourist Lure
Leyden began to take himself seriously, and this year some actual plans began to take shape. Professional and business groups endorsed the proposal, it was looked on as the best possible lure to tourists, too many of whom have headed west to suit the Florida viewpoint.
A short time ago the first actual steps were taken, when a delegation of mayors from the area, with Leyden along, went to New York to discuss fair matters with Impresario Grover Whalen of the New York fair, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia and other leaders of the last prewar exposition.
From their conference came a definite decision to hold a fair, of about $75,000,000 investment, and to center its theme on the meeting of the Americas here.

The fair would cost only half as much as New York's. The site has not yet been chosen, but there is land aplenty inland or along the sea and Biscayne Bay.
The chief advantage Miami would have as a fair location over Chicago, New York, and other Northern cities, Leyden says, is that it could operate here the year around. There would be no need for a winter suspension, with overhead costs continuing, and in fact the winter months would be the best of the year.
Cool Summer
The fair also would be used to draw people here in the summer months, to prove the boast that it is cooler in Miami in summer than it is at home. Temperatures here seldom go above the high 80's—but of course they drop little at night.
The New York trip even brought forth a prediction from Raymond Loewy, noted industrial designer, that atomic power might be available to air-condition the entire Miami area during the fair period. Fair sponsors will wait and see.

Only Chicago and New York have more hotel accommodations than the Miami area, with its more than 500 hotels—350 of them on Miami Beach between the Atlantic and the bay. Scores of new hotels and apartment houses are planned for construction within the next few years, to house additional thousands of seasonal—or fair—visitors.

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some questions from relatives of GIs who are still overseas:

Q. My son writes from Europe that he is in school learning a trade. Could that be any chance mean that he is out of the Army? Or if he is still in the Army, is he going to be eligible for the education benefits and other training facilities under the GI Bill of Rights later?

A. It does not mean he is out of the Army. The Army Education Program is designed to keep the men occupied and give them a chance to find out what they might want to do when they get out. It does not disqualify the men for any benefits of the GI Bill of Rights.

Q. My husband has been overseas for two years in the Navy. He lacks about three points of getting out. When will the point score for the Navy be lowered?

A. Official Navy sources say do not know when the point score will be lowered. It is believed it will be changed when Congress decides what the size of the peacetime Navy will be.

Q. The Army is giving all sorts of fine sports programs and courses in education to the boys now stationed in Europe. My son is heading for the occupation forces in Japan. Will he get the same things there?

A. The Army has just as elaborate plans for athletic programs and training courses for the boys in the Pacific as the boys in Europe are getting. Army says these programs are just getting under way.

Q. When my boy was drafted he was in college. He was in the States with the Navy and didn't receive many points. He writes that he is overseas now and soon will return but not with enough points to get out. Would the Navy consider a special plea for his release based on the fact that his education was interrupted when he was drafted?

A. No. He must continue to serve until he gets enough points.

Centipedes, Rats And Spiders Make Okinawa Living Rugged

By RUSSELL ANNABEL
United Press Staff Writer

OKINAWA—We've taken Okinawa away from the Japanese, but we still have to take it away from the bugs and rats.

The boys at this headquarters have developed what is known hereabouts as the "centipede jitters". This is an interesting condition normally accompanied by two similar states referred to as the "wharf rat twitch" and the "trantula jump". There is also an acute stage called the "habu horrors," but fortunately it is rare and we all hope it will remain so.

The centipedes invaded us recently. Our telephone operator, Seaman 1/c Edward J. Gibney, 2084

31st st., Astoria, Long Island City, New York, killed three in half an hour. They were ugly-looking brutes, poisonous green in color and from four to eight inches long. Gibney didn't know what they were so he wasn't perturbed when they crawled up the leg of his desk. But he knows what they are now, and when you get a wrong number you know that Gibney has his mind on centipedes instead of on the maze of island telephone exchanges.

Too Much for Censor
A few days after Gibney announced the arrival of the centipedes, the Navy censor, Lt. Grant Matthews, 1328 Sacramento st., San Francisco, Calif., got up one morning and pulled his pants on, only to bound back out of them with a startled yell. It developed there was a centipede in the pants with him. Matthews said as far as he was concerned, the centipede could have his pants. The correspondents here all thought that if a centipede bit a censor, the censor would no doubt bite it back. But Matthews spoiled this theory by informing us he wanted no part of any centipede. Besides it hadn't had time to bite him.

The following evening, I found out about centipedes. I was working in the press tent with my shoes off because of the sticky Okinawan heat when a centipede came along and bit my toe. I called the surgeon and asked him if the bite of a centipede was poisonous.

"How do I know?" he said. "I never was bit by one."

"My toe-nail came off 48 hours later. So now nobody works in the press tent with his shoes off. I telephoned the surgeon and let him know the bite wasn't fatal. He said he was grateful for the information.

Rats Arrive In Force

We didn't know there were many rats on the island. But one day when an outfit up the road chose a sweet-potato patch near our camp as a dumping ground, the rats arrived immediately.

My tent-mate throws his shoes at them and then is afraid to look for his shoes in the dark because there is always the possibility of stepping on a centipede.

Tarantulas, *up to now, have been scarce. But the ones that have appeared have been fine, robust specimens, about the size of a tea saucer. We have all, of course, been looking out for the habus, dreaded pit adder of these parts. But the only ones we have discovered thus far have turned out to be pieces of rope and discarded neckties. One chap stepped on a length of black rubber hose one night and ran through two mosquito screens before he could be stopped.

Makes you wonder why the Okinawans ever stayed here.

Lowell Myers Blocks Girard Kick To Give Salem 6-0 Win

Quakers Unimpressive As They Battle Scorelessly Until Final Three Minutes

An inter-class tug-o-war between the Quaker Freshmen and Sophomores at halftime last night was only slightly more of a stalemate than the Salem-Girard football game, which ended 6-0 in favor of Salem as some 3,500 football fans watched the two teams battle back and forth for nearly four quarters before Salem scored on a blocked kick.

The Freshmen and Sophomores in the tug-o-war couldn't break their deadlock, but the Quaker gridders managed it after prancing around in Girard territory for almost an entire ball game.

Coach O. C. Baumgardner's Indians were here to win—and they proved their stubbornness, if nothing else.

Coach Ben Barrett's Quakers took the edge statistically and by the score, but they had a whale of a time doing it.

The score came with about three minutes of playing time remaining in the game. Girard's Walt Aho, a beautiful ball buster, went back to the goal line to kick as his team was parked on their own 11.

Big Lowell Myers, playing by far his best game in two years, rushed through a gaping hole, got in the way of the kick and End John Szymczyk, who also was in there fast, covered it in the end zone for Salem's lone six pointer.

One Play Ball Game

That's the important play of the ball game, but there was a mass of drive and thrust, pass and kick combinations previous to that which kept Girard back in their own territory most of the game.

Steering play by Sam Chicerelli at center, Bob Hosteau at halfback and Aho at fullback were the highlights of the Girard game, which, incidentally, was more or less of a moral victory for the Indians.

Salem's line was terrific on defense, but the Indian forward wall stopped the Quakers consistently when Salem had the pigskin.

Myers was at his top form. Lou's Juliano wasn't fooled by anything and his consistent and powerful charges tossed many an Indian back when he least expected it.

Girard netted just seven yards from scrimmage.

Both ends, Don Chappell and John Szymczyk, were in good form and displayed ball carrying ability on end-arounds.

Herrington Powerful

From an offensive point of view Howard Herrington's off-tackle smashing would take the cake in Quakerdom last night. He was potent off-tackle, as wide holes were there but closed quickly in the secondary.

Eddie Bosick, Bob Boone, Ted Boone and Bill Ward were stopped cold most of the time on charges, while Dan Smith at quarter showed up well on his punt returns.

The Salem line missed blocking Aho's nine kicks by a hair every time he tried. The back just managed to get off his effective kicks until the final one was muffed up by Myers as the game drew to a close.

Salem was close to pay dirt for the first time early in the second quarter, when they advanced the oval to the Girard 38 as the quarter opened. Here the Indians held for downs and took over.

Julian Recovers
Seconds later Juliano pounced on Lewis Brine's fumble and Salem again took over on the Girard 36. Three line plays moved it to the Indian 31, where Harry Haltermann recovered Bob Boone's fumble and that was all over.

The longest sustained march—if it could be called that—netted 27 yards for Salem and moved the ball to the Girard 35, where the visitors tightened and took over on downs.

The half ended with no one getting anywhere.

In the second half not one play was executed in Salem territory. Girard had their backs to the goal line—from a fairly safe distance out—all the way until that game deciding blocked boot.

In the third period the Quakers muffed two fair chances, once getting to the 39 and again to the 37. Both tries failed as they took to the air and looked completely unimpressive.

Early in the final frame Salem again took over on the Girard 35, but four attempts moved the ball two yards and they released again to the visitors.

Smith Gets Good Boot
Taking over after the Indian boot to the Girard 46, Salem marched in three plays to the 37, where Smith booted out of bounds on the five. Girard never recovered from that setback, although they did hold once more before Salem's real chance occurred.

Salem got it again on the Girard 37, but couldn't get farther than the 32, from where Smith kicked to Brine on the eight. He made it back to the 10 when Juliano hit him.

One play gained three yards and then Aho made the fatal kick attempt. Salem's Szymczyk was on the ball and the Quakers were "in." Herrington's plunge for the extra was short.

Another touchdown was in the making when the game ended. Salem closed on the five yard line, going strong after "Mo" Hollinger had intercepted Hosteau's pass on the Girard 40 and returned to the 19. Three plays moved it to the stopping point in the contest.

Salem's play was unimpressive. Gains were impossible through the Girard line and the Quakers' passing attack was

Buckeye Sports Chatter

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—Woe unto the guy who tries to write Ohio High school football.

Bob Worth, Newark Advocate—"Harold Harrison, the gentleman from Indiana who now is the sports editor of the Ohio division of The Associated Press, and who seemed to think Newark should have romped over Male High school of Louisville, Ky., Friday night at Louisville instead of 'squeezing' out a 20 to 13 victory, probably will be surprised to learn mighty Massillon has requested a game with Newark on the strength of the Wildcats' victory over Male."

However, the Cats and the Tigers won't collide for Newark's 1946 schedule already has been filed. Massillon also wanted to play the game at Massillon and also desired only a one-year contract.

Memo to Mr. Worth and Newark fans—You'd be surprised to learn how this corner rated Newark in an unofficial football gabfest last night. It was somewhere about second.

ODDITIES AND EDDITIES

The Ohio State-Southern California football rivalry is slated to be resumed next fall. The dope has it the Bucks will be in Los Angeles on Oct. 5.

Miami university wanted to fly to Miami, Fla., for its football game with the University of Miami (Fla.) tonight but couldn't make the necessary arrangements.

Oberlin gave varsity letters and gold footballs to 29 members of its undefeated football team. All 29 were members of the V-12 unit—five sailors and 24 marines—which explains rather adequately why the Yeomen wanted to get their football playing done before the V-12 deadline of Nov. 1.

In eight games the Yeomen gained 1,735 net yards by rushing to 756 for their opponents and 552 yards by passing to 393 for their foes.

BUCKEYES SETTING ATTENDANCE MARKS

COLUMBUS—With sell-outs assured for remaining home games against Northwestern and Illinois, Ohio State is a cinch to set a home attendance record, breaking the mark of a year ago when 336,802 saw the Buckeyes in Ohio stadium.

With audiences averaging 72,000 expected for the two concluding engagements, the total would be lifted to 375,000. Joining the list of attendance records being knocked galley west is the Bucks' highest seasonal record—486,468 in 1941.

The current Scarlet Scourge is considered a drawing card approaching the 550,000 mark. Last year's record at home was established with seven games, compared to six this trip.

On the whole, Salem's play was unimpressive. Gains were impossible through the Girard line and the Quakers' passing attack was

BLUE DEVILS BEATEN, BUT SCARE BEARS

Take Momentary 7-6 Lead In First Frame To Hury Victors

Leetonia's sixth win in seven games came easy last night over Lisbon, 33-7, but the Blue Devils threw a scare into the Bears momentarily in the first frame at Leetonia's newly lighted stadium.

Sparked by diminutive Larry Duco, who ran all over the field but never crossed a goal line last night, the Bears were impressive again in victory.

Leetonia piled up more than 350 yards from rushing to less than 60 for Lisbon. The first downs were 16-5 in Leetonia's favor, as Lisbon's only flash in the pan proved to be the passing angle.

Webster Shines
The combination of Pullback Allan Webster to Freshman End Woods was good for a 50-yard pass in the first quarter and Lisbon went ahead 7-6 when Webster crashed center for the extra point.

The Bears bounced right back with their running and passing attack to score. Pat Mancuso taking Duco's 19 yard pass for the score Beltempo had crashed over from the nine early in the game for the first tally. Neither extra was good and Leetonia led 12-7 at halftime.

Gaining momentum as the game progressed, Coach Charlie Mather's crew tallied twice in the third period.

The first came when Freddie Domink climaxed a 47-yard march after the kickoff by bumping over from the two yard line. He hit the right end for the score after Lisbon had held on three line tries. Beltempo made the extra on a plunge and Lisbon's hopes fell.

Soon after the second kickoff of the half, Dominic cut off right tackle and scampered 35 yards for the other score of the quarter. The interference on the play was perfect and play was literally untouched all the way. Sammy Stumpo plunged center for the point.

Duco A Whiz
Duco, passing again with uncanny accuracy, hit Beltempo for a gain of 17 yards and the final score early in the fourth. Mancuso dropped-kicked the extra.

Duco only passed for two of the scores but did wonders on the ball carrying assignments. Totalling 15 times, the shifty little half-back totalled 154 yards throughout. Blue Devil line, an average of better than 10 yards per try.

Coach Mather was high in praise of his line and said he believed the passing by Webster for Lisbon was the best exhibition he had seen in years.

The Bears travel to Wellsville next Friday to meet a re-bounding Bengal crew, coached by Wally Ingalls.

Columbiana Takes Sebring 19-0 For Third Tri-County Win In Five League Games

Johnny Cabas' Clippers from Columbiana inserted a sharp-pointed pin in Sebring's Tri-County bubble last night and the bubble burst with a 19-0 bang as the Clippers hung up another victory in league play before some 3,000 gridiron fans at Sebring's stadium.

The Clippers were all-powerful once more, displaying that top form which has boosted them to the foreground in district scholastic football circles.

Halfback Bill Newell, continuing his 1944 form regained last week, scored two of the six-pointers, going four yards for the first and later breaking off-tackle for 80 yards and another in the third period.

Columbiana's well-balanced line performed with clock-like precision last night, making the holes wide in the Trojan forward wall for their fleet-footed backs.

Sheets Ploughs
Carl Sheets was good for the majority of the 11 Columbiana first downs, while the Trojans were getting seven. Columbiana rushed for 329 yards, as compared to 132 for the home town lads.

The first score was chalked up in the first period, Newell scoring after nine Clipper line plays had netted 79 yards in a sustained march.

In the second frame talented Bobby Hum spearheaded the 60-yard march to Trojan land and crashed heavily over from the five yard line for the tally. Both extras failed.

Newell's 80-yard jaunt was as sweet as a coach's dream. Sebring booted over the goal line and the Clippers took over on the 20. On the first play, Newell broke through the line, swished by the secondary and was gone.

Passing Stopped
Sheets banged hard off-tackle for two yards and the extra point. The Clippers' passing attack was stymied neatly. They attempted six and made none good. Sebring clicked on seven of 18 tries, corraling 62 yards via the air lanes.

Rich Berryman and Don Kurtz booted three times for the Clippers, averaging 27 yards. Davies of Sebring kicked three times, also, averaging 17 per try.

Cabas' line was superb last night. Frankie Gorcheff, one of the county's finest at guard, was unstoppable through the Trojan wall and Ends Harry McBride and Bill Poulton. Tackles Don Rapp and Jim Mollenkopf and Center Jim Reinher, all deserve a large share of credit for the victory.

HARRISON PICKS OHIO TO MEASURE MINNESOTA ELEVEN

Reverses Field This Week After Choosing Purdue Over Bucks Last

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—The picking average is shrinking fast, and a $1.98 cent dress in a rain storm but let it never be said this old guesser—and we do mean guesser—ever lost his nerve.

Last week was the worst of the season—five errors in 12 games—but, of course, there always is the saving grace, Purdue was picked over Ohio State.

There is the usual flock of toady ones this week and to make it worse, Miami plays Miami. To make it even more rugged, Wilberforce and Rio Grande are playing. They've caused more trouble than the rest of the Ohio teams put together. So, leaning heavily on the advice of the gorgeous young lady in the rose-colored dress, we give you:

Miami (Ohio) at Miami (Fla.)—This one is a mortal cinch. Miami is going to win the ball game. Blankety-blank it, the boss says. We'll make it Ohio's version.

Wooster at Baldwin-Wallace—Without asking advice from anyone, the vote goes to Baldwin-Wallace, and you can name the score.

Picks Ohio
Ohio State at Minnesota—Last week the experts picked Ohio State and this corner picked Purdue. This week the experts probably will pick Minnesota, so that's enough. Ohio State to win.

Heidelberg at Capital—The Student Princes have done very well in their resumption of football but not good enough to whip Capital. It's the Lutherans with the goal line still uncrossed.

Wilberforce at Tennessee State—Here it comes, and where do we go from here? Wilberforce, and we guess wrong this time we'll go both teams next week.

Kentucky at Cincinnati—Kentucky barely licked Cincinnati a few weeks ago, but the sneaking suspicion still exists the Wildcats will be able to do it again. Kentucky.

Ashland at Muskingum—Ashland won its first start but the Bears don't look good enough to do it again. Muskingum.

Kenyon at Wittenberg—This one is in the rough department. I would take 16 men and a boy figure it out. Having picked Wittenberg for two weeks and lost, the vote goes to Kenyon.

Bluffton at Rio Grande—Stu more of the same. Rio Grande has crossed us up twice so we'll pick the Redmen this time.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—This is the 59th consecutive year of football at Penn State.

FAIRFIELD RALLY SPILLS WATERFORD

Comets Come Back In 2nd Half To Overcome 6-0 Lead and Win 20-6

NEW WATERFORD, Oct. 26.—Fairfield's fighting Comets notched another victory 20-6, here yesterday afternoon, coming from behind at halftime to win over the New Waterford six-man outfit.

Coach Atlee P. Freshley's charges trailed 6-0 at halftime after Welch had tossed to Krepps for 30-yard touchdown pass in the second frame.

Bland tallied twice on line plunges after sustained marches in the third and Mosier took Bland's pass for 35 yards and the final score in the fourth period.

Fairfield meets North Lima in the season's finale at North Lima next Friday.

Amputee Vets Courageous In Overcoming Handicaps

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The GI's who won victory on foreign battle-fronts, today are winning even greater battles on the home front. Directors of more than 400 USO Clubs, operated by The National Catholic Community Service, find that the heroes who have lost arms or legs, or even their eyesight, are applying the same plucky courage and determination they showed in combat, in winning spiritual victory over their physical handicaps.

USO-NCCS Clubs, located near government hospitals, are helping these disabled veterans on the long road back, just as they helped them, as recruits, to bridge the difficult gap from civilian to military life.

Take the case of Private X, who recently participated in a picnic sponsored by the club at Egg Harbor, N. J., for patients from England General hospital. The river looked inviting and it was a wonderful day for a swim. But Private X, being a double amputee, had no legs. However, with a little ingenuity and much grit, he solved his problem by tying rubber fins to his leg stumps, and encouraged by the cheers of his buddies, went splashing about in the water!

Second Fred Astaire

In Richmond, Calif., where the USO-NCCS Club has been conducting regular dancing classes for a group of wounded servicemen from nearby hospitals, a young Marine recently approached the volunteer instructor.

"It's funny," he said with a grin, "when I had my two legs I was always a wallflower because I didn't know how to dance. Now that I have an artificial leg, and have learned how to dance, my buddies call me a second Fred Astaire!" And with this, he grabbed a junior hostess to prove that his buddies weren't wrong.

The experience of USO-NCCS directors has proved that amputees and blind veterans, despite their handicaps, want no special consideration. All they long for is a chance to be part of the crowd, and in many cases, they want to feel as though they are contributing something on their own.

Learn Card Tricks

In Brigham City, Utah, where the USO-NCCS Club plays host to hundreds of convalescents from Bushnell General hospital, one 19-year-old veteran, who lost both legs when he stepped on a land mine, approached the director.

"You know," he said, "I've had lots of good times here but I wish I could contribute something toward the fun."

The club director taught the soldier the art of card tricks, and now, as expert a legerdemainist as there ever was, he entertains fellow GIs regularly at the club with his amazing card feats.

In San Francisco, Calif., where the USO-NCCS club entertains many ambulatory patients from nearby government hospitals, a recent "night out" party drew a large attendance of blind veterans from Dibble General hospital.

The first notes sounded by the orchestra were a tempting invitation to the beribboned guests and soon the dance floor was crowded by the blind servicemen and amputees who showed their adeptness at jitterbugging and rhumbas. As usual, there were lots of pretty junior hostesses and a lavish buffet. And, as usual, the men pleaded for an extension of the closing hour.

When the hospital bus called for the patients, one blind soldier lingered to say goodnight to the director. On the dance-floor he had, at last, overcome his handicap.

And now, the boy with the sightless eyes, his self-confidence restored, reached for the director's hand. "Goodnight Sir," he said, "thanks for a wonderful evening. I hope I'll be able to see you sometime."

Under Wrong Bed
HAMMOND, Ind.—Finding a man under the bed might have been an answer to a maiden's prayer, but it scared Robert G. Olwarez. Olwarez awoke one morning to find a stranger under his bed. He rushed out of the room, locked the door and called the police. The stranger couldn't explain how he got there.
